SINGLE MALT

Scotch

SPEYSIDE

Speyside whiskies are among Scotland's lightest, sweetest single malts, and have little peaty character. Age often brings a bit more body and the profusion of heavily sherried whiskies from the region exhibit superb power. Though a comparatively small appellation, Speyside has the vast majority of Scotch whisky distilleries.

MACALLAN 18	33
MACALLAN 25	95

HIGHLAND

As a very vague rule of thumb, the Highlands region is one of big-bodied whiskies, often peated and smoky, and often very powerful.

GLENMORANGIE "THE QUINTA RUBAN" 12	13
OBAN 14	13
SPRINGBANK 15	23
THE ARRAN "ST. EMILLION" CASK	27

ISLAY

Islay whiskies are among Scotland's most powerful, thunderous drams. Often with plenty of peat, smoke, and medicinal flavors, of all the whisky regions of Scotland.
